EROS MEHMETI

As an ambitious computer science student at UBT College, I am highly motivated to develop my software engineering skills and contribute to innovative software projects that drive technological advancements. With a wealth of experience in numerous programming languages, including React, Java, SQL, and C#, I have a solid foundation in software development. Additionally, I am proficient in HTML and CSS, which has enabled me to build dynamic and interactive user interfaces for web applications.

Currently, I am actively learning Vue.js and Node.js. These new skills will enhance my ability to develop scalable software applications and stay up-to-date with the ever-evolving nature of the field.

I am driven by my passion for computer science and software engineering, and I am eager to bring my skills and knowledge to a dynamic team.
